

Improve your listening skills

TedEd is a great website with a lot of short videos. You can learn things about many different topics and by watching them you will improve your listening skills. Go to TEDEd by clicking on the following link:

https://ed.ted.com/lessons?direction=desc&sort=featured-position&user_by_click=student

Find 3 videos that you are interested in and watch them. You can sort them by subjects or just browse through the selection. After watching the videos you can answer the questions in the think section or join the discussion by posting your opinion. You can find the think and discuss section on the right side of each video like in the example below.

The screenshot shows the TED Ed website interface. At the top, the TED Ed logo is on the left, and "register or sign in" is on the right. Below the logo is a navigation bar with "Discover", "Create", and "Support" options. A search icon is also present. Below the navigation bar, there is a brief description of the video: "On their 20th birthday, identical twin astronauts volunteer for an experiment. Terra will remain on Earth, while Stella will board a spaceship. Stella's ship will travel to visit a star that is 10 light-years away, then return to Earth. As they prepare to part ways, the twins wonder what will happen when they're reunited. Who will be older? Amber Stuver investigates the 'Twin Paradox.'" Below this description is a video player thumbnail for "EINSTEIN'S TWIN PARADOX EXPLAINED" by Amber Stuver. The thumbnail features two identical twin girls wearing purple party hats. To the right of the video player, there are four interactive options: "Watch", "Think", "Dig Deeper", and "Discuss". Below these options is a "Customize This Lesson" button and a speech bubble icon containing the number "79". At the bottom, there is a small text prompt: "Create and share a new lesson based on this one."
